IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF GUAM

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Plaintiff,

vs.

AMBROSIO D. CONSTANTINO, JR.,

Defendant.

CRIMINAL CASE NO. 15-00029

ORDER AND DECISION RE MOTION FOR A JUDGMENT OF ACQUITTAL

12 This matter is before the court on the Defendant's Motion for a Judgment of Acquittal.
13 See ECF No. 157. The Defendant contends that the evidence presented at trial was insufficient to 14 sustain a conviction for theft of government property and aggravated identity theft. For the 15 reasons set forth below, the motion is DENIED.

16 I. PROCEDURAL AND FACTUAL BACKGROUND

17 On May 27, 2015, the Defendant was indicted on Count 1, Theft of Government
18 Property, in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 641 and 2; and Count 2, Aggravated Identity Theft, in 19 violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 1028A(a)(1) and 2. See ECF No. 1.

20 This case arises out of a program called the Guard Recruiting Assistance Program ("G-
21 RAP"), which provides a $2,000 referral bonus to a Recruiter Assistant ("RA") for every guard
22 recruit. The program is administered by a company called Document and Packaging Brokers,
23 Inc. ("Docupak"), who is contracted by the U.S. Army National Guard Bureau.

24 The case proceeded to trial on January 21, 2016. At the close of the Government's case,

1 the Defendant moved the court for a judgment of acquittal pursuant to FED. R. CRIM. P. 29(a).
2 See ECF No. 119. The court found that the evidence was sufficient to sustain a conviction on the 3 counts charged in the Indictment and denied the motion. At the close of all the evidence, the 4 Defendant renewed his motion, which this court also denied. See ECF No. 124.

5 II. DISCUSSION

6 The Defendant now moves this court for judgment of acquittal pursuant to FED. R. CRIM.
7 P. 29(c). See ECF No. 157.

8 After the return of a guilty verdict and upon motion of a defendant, the court may set
9 aside the verdict and enter an acquittal if the “evidence is insufficient to sustain a conviction.”
10 FED. R. CRIM. P. 29. To determine whether the evidence is sufficient to sustain a conviction, the 11 court must “construe the evidence ‘in the light most favorable to the prosecution,’ and only then
12 determine whether ‘any rational trier of fact could have found the essential elements of the crime
13 beyond a reasonable doubt.’” United States v. Nevils, 598 F.3d 1158, 1161 (9th Cir. 2010)
14 (quoting Jackson v. Virginia, 443 U.S. 307, 319 (1979)). See also United States v. Meredith, 685
15 F.3d 814, 819 (9th Cir. 2012). Moreover, the jury’s exclusive function is to “determine the 16 credibility of the witnesses, resolve evidentiary conflicts and draw reasonable inferences from 17 proven facts.” United States v. Nelson, 419 F.2d 1237, 1241 (9th Cir. 1969). “Circumstantial
18 evidence and inferences drawn from it may be sufficient to sustain a conviction.” United States
19 v. Reyes-Alvarado, 963 F.2d 1184, 1188 (9th Cir. 1992).

20 In the present motion, the Defendant challenges the sufficiency of the evidence. See ECF
21 No. 157. Specifically, the Defendant argues that the United States failed to present evidence
22 “that the property stolen belonged to the United States.” Id. at 1. Further, because “a finding of 23 guilt as to Count 1 of the Indictment is a necessary predicate to a finding of guilt as to Count 2, a 24 failure to prove Count 1 necessarily destroys Count 2.” Id.

1 a. Count 1: Theft of Government Property

2 In order for the Defendant to be found guilty of Count 1, Theft of Government Property,
3 the court instructed the jury that the Government had to show beyond a reasonable doubt, that:

4 (1) First, from on or about January 26, 2010 until on or about May 31, 2010, the 5 defendant knowingly stole or converted to defendant's use of money with the 6 intention of depriving the owner of the use or benefit of the money;

7 (2) Second, the money belonged to the United States; and

8 (3) Third, the value of the money was more than $1,000.

9 See ECF No. 128, at 11.

10 The Defendant is not contesting the sufficiency of the evidence as to elements 1 and 3.
11 See generally Def.'s Mot., ECF No. 157. Accordingly, the court will only address element 2, 12 which is whether or not the United States presented evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that the 13 money belonged to the United States.

14 The Defendant argues that the evidence presented at trial "supports the proposition that 15 the property when stolen belonged to Docupak, not the United States." ECF No. 157, at 5
16 (emphasis in original). This is based on Mr. William Stewart's testimony that the $2000
17 recruitment bonuses paid to the RAs were directly from Docupak's funds. Id. at 2-4. Docupak
18 thereafter submits an invoice to the United States for reimbursement. Id.

19 Pursuant to section 641, the stolen property must be a "record, voucher, money, or thing
20 of value of the United States or of any department or agency thereof." 18 U.S.C. § 641 (emphasis 21 added). To determine that the property at issue belonged to the United States, the court looks to 22 two things: (1) the government's "title to, possession of, or control over" the funds involved (see 23 United States v. Kranovich, 401 F.3d 1107, 1113 (9th Cir. 2005) (internal quotations omitted));
24 and (2) the amount of control the government has retained over the funds. United States v. Faust,

1 850 F.2d 575, 579 (9th Cir. 1988) (internal quotations omitted).

2 In the present case, evidence was presented that the government had an ownership
3 interest in the money disbursed to the Defendant. Mr. William Stewart (“Mr. Stewart”), Deputy 4 Program Manager for Docupak, testified at trial that the National Guard approached Docupak to 5 create a program to recruit soldiers, and worked closely with Docupak to develop the program.
6 Trial Tr. at 12-13, Jan. 22-28, 2016. Docupak and the National Guard then entered into an
7 agreement to run G-RAP. Id. at 96.

8 As part of the agreement, Mr. Stewart testified that Docupak made payments to 9 successful RAs. Id. at 29. After successful accessions or individuals shipping to basic training,
10 Docupak invoiced the National Guard. Id. at 208. The National Guard would then send money to 11 Docupak. Id. at 296-97. These facts prove that the funds disbursed to the Defendant were a
12 “thing of value” belonging to the government within the meaning of § 641. Faust, 850 F.2d at 13 579.

14 Furthermore, there was evidence that the government maintained substantial control over
15 the funds. In finding that the government suffered a loss of a thing of value under § 641, the “key 16 factor” is the supervision and control over the thing of value contemplated and manifested on the 17 part of the government. United States v. Johnson, 596 F.2d 842, 846 (9th Cir. 1979) (internal 18 quotations omitted); see also United States v. Scott, 784 F.2d 787, 791 (7th Cir. 1986).

19 In the present case, the “Solicitation, Offer and Award” between the Army National 20 Guard, National Guard Bureau Contracting Office and Docupak was admitted into evidence. See
21 Gov’t Ex. 12 (“the Contract”). The Contract contains provisions for supervision, control and 22 approval of Docupak’s activities. Docupak was required to submit a plan to follow the Federal 23 Government’s small business participation goals to maximize small business subcontractor and 24 vendor participation in the Contract. Gov’t Ex. 12(a), p. 1. Docupak was also required to submit

1 a Subcontracting Report and Summary Subcontracting Report to the Administrative Contracting
2 Officer. Id. at p. 7. On a contract-by-contract basis, Docupak was also required to submit
3 subcontractor information to the U.S. Government. Id. at p. 8.

4 The National Guard Bureau also required the submission of periodic reports, studies and
5 surveys by Docupak to determine the extent of compliance of the Small Business Subcontracting
6 Plan. Id., Appendix A. Finally, Docupak was also required to submit a Quality Control Plan to 7 the National Guard Bureau, which included the reporting and tracking of actions to ensure the 8 effectiveness of the contract. Gov't Ex. 12(b). Thus, the nature and extent of the federal
9 government's control over the G-RAP funds was commensurate with controls that the Ninth
10 Circuit has previously deemed sufficient for section 641. Kranovich, 401 F.3d at 1114; Faust,
11 850 F.2d at 579–80.

12 Based on the testimony presented by the Government, the exhibits admitted into 13 evidence, and viewing the evidence in the light most favorable to the Government, the court
14 finds that there is sufficient evidence that the money in question belonged to the United States
15 and therefore, there is sufficient evidence to support the jury's finding of guilt.

16 b. Count 2: Aggravated Identity Theft

17 In order for the Defendant to be found guilty of Count 2, Aggravated Identity Theft, the 18 court instructed the jury that the Government had to show beyond a reasonable doubt, that:

19 (1) First, the defendant knowingly possessed or used without legal authority a means of 20 identification of another person;

21 (2) Second, the defendant knew that the means of identification belonged to a real 22 person; and

23 (3) Third, the defendant did so during and in relation to theft of government money in 24 violation of Section 641 of Title 18 of the United States Code.
